Big Reception Prepared For Returned Fleet

Long Beach Offers Elaborate Reception to Navy Officers and Men

LONG BEACH, March 24.—With 42 units of the combined Pacific and Atlantic fleets, in all 147 surface craft, anchored off shore in the greatest concentration of naval forces ever witnessed on the West coast, Long Beach for the next three days will be the scene of the most elaborate celebration in its history.

Forty thousand officers and enlisted men comprise the complement of this gigantic armada and approximately 10,000 of these will be on shore leave daily during the festivities which are expected to lure 200,000 civilian visitors to the beach between now and Sunday night.

A gigantic searchlight drill rivaling the beauties of an aurora borealis will be presented nightly with more than 200 powerful beams, an average of four to each warship, piercing the sky. They will be operated simultaneously for a half hour on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings from 8 to 8:30.

With favorable atmospheric conditions this dazzling spectacle may be seen for 200 miles, navy officials declare. The drill will be the most extensive every participated in by any division of the U. S. Navy and was arranged by ranking officers as a reciprocal gesture for the four-day reception the city of Long Beach has arranged to honor Uncle Sam's warriors of the sea.

Having just completed a coast of $42,000, a navy landing providing every facility for shore contact, Long Beach proudly proclaims itself Southern California's permanent host to the naval forces. Huge fleets of water taxis will make Man of War row accessible to the thousands who will want to go aboard the fighting craft. The civilian crewers will operate both from the Pine Pine Avenue pier and from the new navy landing, which is but five minutes from the business district. They will run on a ten-minute schedule during the entire stay of the fleet in local waters. The round trip fare to any of the ships will be 50 cents.

Visitors may board some of the vessels at noon, the last taxis carrying boarding parties leaving the docks at 4 p. m. each day. The three airplane carriers—Lexington, Langley and Saratoga—will be open to visitors only on Saturday and Sunday and holidays.

With eight miles of beach available to sightseers, as well as the spacious promenades and the eight-acre fill around the new auditorium, and the new pleasure pier, ample room is provided for viewing the searchlight spectacle, city officials pointed out today.
